SmartBear Software has announced new versions of QAComplete and TestComplete to help organizations accelerate application delivery time and product quality by improving collaboration across software testing groups. In this release, SmartBear has also enhanced its mobile and desktop testing capabilities by providing support for PhoneGap, iOS 8 and Chromium Embedded Framework, among many frameworks.

With QAComplete 9.9 and TestComplete 10.4 integration, SmartBear has focussed on helping organizations break silos and achieve testing agility. With a single interface for test orchestration, QAComplete 9.9 provides stakeholders a collaborative testing environment with full visibility across the test cases associated with a release. Team members cannot only collaborate on the design and planning of the tests, but also schedule automated and manual tests for different environments. Additionally, the reporting capability of QAComplete delivers a full view of all tests run across multiple platforms in one easy-to-use interface.
